LIVE EVENT – ROUTE TEAM

THINK IT MIGHT BE THE PLACE FOR YOU? THIS IS THE JOB ON OFFER.

Join the route crew team: this role requires:

- A level of fitness to be able to walk 20-40 kms a day and be confident to work independently at times away from other team members.
- You will also need to be able to use navigation apps on your phone. The Route Director will provide you with all the details of the apps, how to use them, and map files.
- Ability to drive your own vehicle on the event.

The roles vary event to event, so a willingness to be flexible is needed. A good summary the various roles are below:

- Signage –
  - This role will be helping to set-up and sign the route before the live event. This will also mean you are ensuring the route is safe and ready for the event to begin.
  - You may also be expected to manage a section of the route on the event days themselves.
  - You might also be part of the signage-down team, where you will have to remove the signs from the route after all participants have passed, making sure the route is left as it was before the event started!
- Backmarkers –
  - This role will involve following the route behind the final participants on the course. This means words of encouragement, positive energy and empathy will be vital for delivering this role effectively.
  - This may also mean that you will have to communicate with the broom vehicles if participants are falling behind the cut-off times at Pit Stops.
- Glow-stickers –
  - Help to place glowsticks, and signs, on the route so that when it gets dark, participants can follow the route without getting lost. You may be asked to bring a bike if the terrain allows.

\*Also note – you may be required to work very long hours – so be willing to commit to doing so.*

These skills will also be useful

- Willingness to get 'stuck in' and learn skills.
- Effective communication and teamwork with other crew members.
- Ability to be empathetic and help the participants that are in need. Be smiley, positive, and caring!
- A love/preference of working outdoors.
